WEST NEWTON, Sept. 16.—Called to the negro section of town at 2:30 o'clock this morning to quell disorder, Chief of Police George Rae was fatally wounded by a negro who escaped. The officer died on his way to the McKeesport Hospital.

Chief Rae was accompanied by Al Passaro and Joe Burkhardt. As they approached the house in which the trouble was reported they were met in the street by six negroes. As Rae was in the act of warning the negroes that the disturbance must cease, a young negro with a revolver in his right coat pocket fired from the pocket, the bullet striking the officer in the abdomen.

Chief Rae collapsed, falling on the sofa in which he carried his revolver. By the time his companions, who were not officers and were unarmed, got him rolled over and secured his weapon the negro had escaped.

Foros were searching for the slayer, who was believed to have started in the Youghiogheny River.

Rae died at 3:15 o'clock. Just as he was being carried into the hospital, the dead officer was 37 years old, his wife and a child of 11 survive. He had been chief of police for three years.

The Baltimore & Ohio police department in Connellsville was notified that a negro, described as 23 years old, six feet, eight inches tall and wearing a dark suit, shot the West Newton chief. They arrested several negroes but they did not know the description. The railway officers were informed the man was apparently headed toward Johnstown. No name was given.

Chief of Police P. M. Murphy was asked to institute a search for the man and his officers arrested three suspicious characters up to noon. One of them, Jim Gist, also colored told the officers he was on the freight train for Connellsville the assailant of the officer had boarded at West Newton in making his escape.

Gist said the fugitive's name was Scott. The man told him, he said, that he had "shot a bull" and exhibited the weapon. The description given by Gist tallied with that of the murderer. Two other suspects are also being held.

According to information given the chief a single shot, which struck the officer in the stomach, caused death. The story here concerning events leading up to the shooting is that the West Newton officer, passing four negroes on their way home from a dance, asked them if they had any "suds."

"Suds, we got suds," Scott is quoted as having replied, and without further word is alleged to have shot from his pocket, without removing the weapon. Then he bolted and left the town on a freight train. He was on this train that Gist saw and talked with him.

What You Should Know about a baby's care

Illness is usually due to constipation. Quickly give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin.

THE young mother should watch which foods the baby relishes most, which foods and their quantity cause distress, and act accordingly.

The good health of a baby is largely a matter of intelligent attention to diet. Nevertheless, in spite of your efforts you will sometimes notice belching, flatulence, wind and symptoms of colicky pain.

Give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin, and thereafter vary the offending food. Syrup Pepin is a laxative admirably suited to infants and children, it is mild and wholly free from opium and narcotics.

If you delay in giving it you will soon find the baby suffering from constipation, and that may lead to more serious illness. Half a teaspoonful promptly gives relief.

Many thousands of mothers have never given their babies any other medicine but Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin and they have successfully raised large and sturdy families. The formula is not a secret, being a combination of Egyptian saffron, poppy, and other common ingredients, all listed on the package. Atta, Dewey, Walker, Elda, N. M., and Mrs. B. Higginbotham, Otter Creek, Fla., are among the many who are firm believers in Syrup Pepin and the high regard in which their babies and themselves are in good health.

No family with young children can afford to be without such a household medicine. It is effective, beneficial and safe. It does not interfere with the digestion of the food which has been digested so far. It is a laxative and a tonic.

You will find that Syrup Pepin quickly brings relief in the severest chronic constipation in babies, in colic, flatulence, lack of appetite, colic, diarrhea, headache, and fever.

Every druggist sells it, and the cost on the average is less than a cent a dose. It is guaranteed to be effective in these symptoms or your money will be refunded.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin will be sent to you postpaid by mail. Do not enclose postage. It is free.

TUESDAY EVENING, SEP. 16, 1924.

THE PRESENT MOST IMPORTANT MATTER IN THIS SECTION.

The revival of the project to construct a bridge across the Youghiogheny River at South Connellsville is nearly the most important matter at present before the people of the section which would benefit by this public improvement.

The problem before the promoters of the proposed bridge is not to convince the people of Connellsville, South Connellsville, Dunbar and adjacent sections of the necessity for spanning the river at the point selected. That has long ago been conceded in all quarters. The present task is to crystallize public sentiment that all the weight and force of community cooperation and support will yet be behind the undertaking and insure it being carried to completion.

With this end in view petitions are now being circulated which when filed in court will constitute such a unanimous expression of public sentiment that the request to revive the project cannot be ignored. Through the medium of these petitions, and other efforts that can be made in behalf of the proposed bridge, every organization and every individual citizen who does or can have any appreciation of the advantages that will result from providing this facility, can do much to arouse public interest and otherwise assist in promoting this highly important undertaking.

In preparing to lay the master before the grand jury at the December term of court, there will be the advantage resulting from the favorable view of the river, but the fair should not depend upon this alone. The promoters of the measure ought to be able to present proof that every citizen and taxpayer within a reasonable distance from the bridge site is willing and desires that the improvement be made. Such proof can be provided if there is an generous response to the request for signatures to the petitions as the importance of the master involved demands.

NO POLITICS IN DEFENSE DAY.

For the benefit of those who were under the erroneous impression that National Defense Day was a wicked Republican scheme, it might be well to recall some facts in connection with the inception and history of the plan.

Upon his return from participation in the signing of the Treaty of Versailles President Wilson, who had been deeply impressed with the pre-pacifist measures of the European nations, had taken under his command arm to be increased to 600,000.

His proposal met with objections on part of the Republicans and many Democrats in Congress, on the ground that it would impose too heavy a burden of taxation on the people to maintain an army of that size.

After much debate and many counter-proposals a compromise was reached which was embodied in the National Defense Act which was passed by a Democratic Congress and approved by President Wilson in June, 1920. This act was based upon the propositions that a small standing army be maintained, that the National Guard form the secondary military force and that the reserves be constituted a skeletonized force as the basis for the mobilization of a citizen volunteer army in case of emergency. The act also provided for a mobilization, or Defense Day, upon which to test the operation of the whole defense plan.

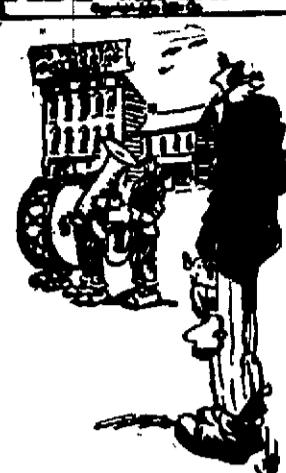

The fact that the first Defense Day was held this year, while a Republican president is in office who is also candidate for election to a full term, seems to have created in the minds of some persons the impression that it had some insidious relation to promoting President Coolidge's interests as a Republican candidate.

In his capacity as chief executive President Coolidge simply performed his duties under the National Defense Act just as a Democratic president under the same circumstances would have been expected to do. The people responded to the extent of providing more recruits for the National Guard units than were required to bulk them to full war strength, forming part of more than 16,000,000 citizens who, in some capacity, manifested their willingness to do their part just as in 1917-18, they had stood loyally behind the government, then administered by a Democratic president.

National Defense Day had no taint of politics in it other than was attempted to be given it by those who might some flimsy excuse to justify their refusal to cooperate or take part in it.

Register today and you will have no cause for regret on November 4.

We wonder if there's no respect for gray coups as there is for a real crop.

Ninety-nine times out of a hundred in 'feller who cries fraud is looked.

In addition to taking stock of our defensive resources, Defense Day proved to be a necessary precaution against the activities of those citizens who are "against the government" on everything.

On to Dunbar via the Connellsville-Dunbar bridge should be the slogan here. Dunbar it should be. On to Connellsville via the Dunbar-to-CConnellsville bridge. In South Connellsville it should be, On to Connellsville and Dunbar via the Connellsville-South Connellsville-Dunbar bridge.

It is never a violation of the Volstead Act to exhibit more than 2.75 per cent alcohol.

A mild "spur" of patriotism has less of "the morning after" effect than intemperate denunciation of perfectly sober citizens.

Crippled Children Law

Wilkes-Barre Record.

Amend the test of the act of 1922 relative to county care of crippled children.

Interpretation of the law is the outcome of the court but the outstanding appeal is to do something in some way for the little ones who will not be helped unless by some outside agency. It may be regarded as an act of gross humanity to leave the crippled and deformed children to suffer the discomforts of their condition and to go through life impeded for earning their own livelihood.

Counties are put to the expense of caring for wayward children and in some instances for the care of persons suffering with tuberculosis. The public pays the cost of caring for persons suffering the results of poverty. The sick and the injured are cared for in the hospitals, partially by the State and partially by private charity. Crippled children are among the most deserving of help at public expense. They have been neglected for too long. Further neglect would be nothing short of gross inhumanity.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down pains in my right side, also headache and sleepless nights. I first began having trouble when I was 16, and they have increased as I have grown older. A little booklet was left at my door, and I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound could do for women and decided to try it. After the first week I could go to sleep every night and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The trouble was so bad that I could not work, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to work again. I am so glad to tell my friends that it helps where other medicines have failed."—Mrs. Gus Vogel, 8606 Palouse Street, Detroit, Michigan.

A record of fifty years service must convince women of the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Smithfield

SMITHFIELD, Sept. 16.—A large crowd braved the cold to witness the opening of the Smithfield road Friday. Cold weather did not deter hundreds from Smithfield, Uniontown, Point Marion and West Virginia from attending. State Road Inspector Paul Conn of Point Marion laid down the bars and declared the road open to public traffic and immediately the column began to move over the new road. The large audience was called to order by W. J. Bright, in the public square. "First 'America'" was sung by the school children of Smithfield, after which R. S. Burchfield, president of the Smithfield council, gave the address of welcome. Following this William Dawson of Uniontown, delivered an eloquent address of the adventures which Smithfield now has. He was followed by Earl S. Arford of Uniontown and Burgess E. S. Tyler of Point Marion, after which Dr. H. B. Guller gave a history of the old Morgantown road from its first location until the present day, which proved very interesting to all. A lawn polo was held on the lawn of J. D. Graham, under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion.

Commander Quin

Tells What the

Legion Has Done

By United Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 16.—Calling on the American Legion to launch an road of service horizons untraveled, John R. Quin, retiring national commander, today gave the convention of the veterans' organization an accounting of his stewardship as its leader during the past twelve months.

"A half decade ago the Legion was but an idea," Quin said. "It inspired great hopes in some, trust in others, and was the object of fear in a few. Today it has passed its懵懂 stage and begun a career which past accomplishments indicate will be replete with great deeds.

"During the year in which I have been your leader, two major triumphs have been won by the Legion, triumphs which have proved its great influence for good and crystallized it into a tremendous force working for the betterment of our country.

"The greatest triumph was the passage of the Read-Johnson bill, the greatest reform legislation for the disabled since the creation of the Veterans' Bureau.

"The other outstanding achievement of 1924 was the enactment of the adjusted compensation law. The opponents of this bill, using it as an open means of attack on the Legion wished utterly to destroy the organization. Instead of crushing our organization our enemies proved our inherent strength.

"To the best of our ability we have endeavored to carry out the mandates given to us by the San Francisco convention a year ago.

"In immigration we did not achieve total suspension, there has at least been immigration reform following generally the thought of your resolution of 1922.

"The American policies as dictated by the last convention have been closely followed by the creation of the Community Service and Civic Betterment bureaus."

"A half decade ago the Legion was but an idea," Quin said. "It inspired great hopes in some, trust in others, and was the object of fear in a few. Today it has passed its懵懂 stage and begun a career which past accomplishments indicate will be replete with great deeds.

VANDERBILT
DIVADAS WIN

Manager Pete Ahate Now Ready to Meet Any Team in County, He Says.

TWO MEMBERS CRIPPLED

VANDERBILT, Sept. 16.—Vanderbilt went wild last night following the Divada club's victory over the crank Captain nine. Every nook, cranny or hook in the streets found a number of the townsfolk discussing the baseball game. Never before in the history of the town has baseball interest revolved within so short a time. About a month ago, the town was "through" with baseball but President Peter G. Ahate came to the rescue and put a "real" ball club on the field. Claims for the championship of the county in amateur circles has been put out by the officials of the club, players and their fans, who believe that their club is capable of toppling any outfit in the county, any time, anywhere, any place or for any amount of money.

"The victory over the Captain nine puts my club into the running for the county championship," Manager Ahate announced. "Therefore, I take great pleasure in heralding to the countians that their amateur championship team hails from the tri-town district. Any person, persons, ball clubs or what else may see fit to protest this, can get in communication or in touch with me at Vanderbilt. I extend a challenge to any ball clubs in the county who dispute my claim for the county championship. Let me have your address or telephone number and I'll show you a ball club."

Connell Meets Friday.

The borough council met last evening and after a few minutes adjourned the meeting until Friday evening.

Kerr Shallenberger Hurt.

Two members of the Divada ball club are on the crippled list. Shortstop Joseph "Kerr" Shallenberger was hit on the left elbow by a pitched ball. The elbow was swollen twice its size last evening. There is a possibility of a broken bone. Catcher Stephen Schonage turned his ankle for the third time this season in sliding into first base in yesterday's game. He will be laid up for a week.

FOUR COKER TEAMS ENGAGE IN SECOND
STIFF SCRIMMAGE

Another stiff scrimmage was held by High School at Fayette Field last evening. The unusual spectacle of two scrimmages in progress at the same time was witnessed by a crowd of interested persons who visited the field to see the team in action.

Coaches Larow and Settle had more than 50 boys out again last evening. Nearly all of them were uniformed and clothes are being given out as rapidly as they can be raked up.

Tackling practice, carrying the ball and using the arm for protection were the main features for a time. Then signal drill was held and after that scrimmage was ordered. Four teams engaged at one time—two under Coach Larow and two under Coach Settle. Some of the boys are progressing rapidly and others are looked to as likely prospects. With a little more dash instilled into it, the team will be worth while. Saturday marks the opening of the season. In spite of the fact that West Newton is the opponent, it is very likely a record opening crowd will be on hand as everyone is desirous of seeing the Coker hopefuls in action. The size of the squad will undoubtedly be a pleasant surprise and the initial combat will give a glimpse of what may be expected of them later in the season.

JURY OF WOMEN
OUT 12 MINUTES
IN AUTO CASE

It took a jury composed entirely of 12 women just 12 minutes to retire to the jury room, make up their minds and again be in the ladies parlor in Culbertson Monday. The case grew out of a collision between cars, belonging to prosecutor and defendant.

Of the 12 of the women, 10 were the now conventional long tresses.

The jury was composed of the following women: Mrs. Jessie Hayes, Brownsville; Mrs. Carrie Roberts, Brownsville; Mrs. William Murin, Vandergrift; Mrs. Margaret Dehli, Henry Clay, No. 2; Elizabeth Rutherford, Lower Tyrone; Mildred McLaughlin, Everett; Margaret Dix, South Connellsville; Beatrice McCombs, German No. 1; Eddie Abraham, Brownsville; Mrs. Emma Krolikowski, Upper Tyrone No. 1; Mrs. May E. By United Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Forty-eight Progressives, who formerly supported the late President Roosevelt, issued a statement repudiating Senator LaFollette as a Progressive. They said that LaFollette had refused to support the Progressive movement in 1912 and had no claim to Progressive support in this election.

They also quoted Roosevelt's declaration in 1917 as an enemy of the country and of democracy. According to the 18, the LaFollette candidate is based on radicalism, not progressivism, is likely to lead to class war and is undoubtedly opposed to Rooseveltian views.

Among the signers are Louis Duer, Jr., N. F. Lawrence and E. A. Van Valkenburg of Pennsylvania; J. D. W. English of Pittsburgh, L. F. Abbott of New York, George Ade of Indiana, Henry J. Allen of Kansas, J. C. Work

The Paramount

"VIRTUOUS LIARS"—On view today at the Paramount, presents Edith Allen, David Powell and Maurice Costello in the leading roles.

The interest is well sustained, commencing early in the story when a rather sporty husband returns to his wife after an all-night party with the usual hen about business. His wife however, stickers of these tales and after accusing him of being drunk, tells him she has had enough. He takes her at her word and departs, leaving her to bring up their small daughter through her shabby as an artist. A few sequences show the struggle of a woman striving to make a name for herself. Here Edith Allen does exceptionally fine work.

We next see the young woman after she has won a prize and has gained a wealthy art patron, a role splendidly portrayed by Maurice Costello. Burr McIntosh interprets the role of a friend of the art patron and while he is given but brief opportunity to display his skill makes a lasting impression through his sterling acting. Naomi Childers portrays his niece and shows all of her old time vivacity and life. She is a typical society girl of the type opposed to the young artist and naturally fails to make a hit with Dr. Norman Wright, portrayed by David Powell, nephew of the art patron.

Some interesting sequences show the struggle of a woman striving to make a name for herself. Here Edith Allen does exceptionally fine work.

Wednesday and Thursday, "The Breathless Moment" will be shown.

The Soisson

"THE EXTRA GIRL" the leading attraction today and tomorrow at the Soisson, presents Mabel Normand in one of her best roles.

Mabel Normand appears as Sue Graham, the country girl who lands right side up with ease in the midst of more calamities and fluids enough thrills here to stock a half dozen stories. Miss Normand is the central figure in one of the most exciting and laughable comedy dramas ever enacted.

One laugh-touring scene after another follows with a lot of hills thrown in for good measure, the whole story telling an unusual plot.

Miss Normand is supported by one of the best acting casts that Mack Sennett could assemble and Mr. Sennett knows all the actors and actresses as by their first names and he knows their abilities. It was therefore only natural that Miss Normand received unusual support in the film enactment of "The Extra Girl."

The Truant Soul

"Open that door!" shrieked Myers in uncontrollable fury. "Open at once, do you hear me?"

Joan lookedhardt about her. Some instinct seemed to tell her that the case of morphine she had hidden under the sheepskin in the outer corner, by stretching out her hand without giving way in the least, Joan could just reach far enough to tear away the next line. There were dozens of the bottles in the packing case, but one was enough to kill a herd of oxen.

She heard Jenkins protesting violently, and the irate look on his face told her that the matron was smacking him. The matron was smacking him. The girl did not know what they were saying to Myers, beyond the general sense of their exasperation, but she felt her will ride high above the storm of conflict.

A hammer lay on the shelf. Joan took it in her hand.

"Listen!" she cried to those outside.

"I have the morphine and I have the hammer. And I am going to break every bottle in this room!"

Lancaster cried out pitifully at her words. "Miss Wentworth, you will kill me if you do!"

"Unless this case passes into my possession, I am going to have the storekeeper key it, and I am going to take charge of Doctor Lancaster, who has employed me for that special purpose during this month."

The silence of abjectation outside was complete. Joan flung the door open boldly and stood before the group, the hammer in her hand. She saw Lancaster, with eyes half-lidded, leaning upon her, the matron and Jenkins, mutely, and Myers, leaning against the opposite wall of the passage, regarding her with venomous impotence.

"Well, what do you say to that, doctor?" he sneered.

"It is not what Doctor Lancaster says," answered Joan. "It is what I say. Mrs. Fraser, please give me the storekeeper key."

The group looked askance at the girl, let her hand slide down toward the side of the door.

"The key, please," repeated Joan, and received it. Quickly she locked the door and put the key in the pocket of her uniform.

"Now," she said, "I want you all to understand that this situation, I am undoubtedly Doctor Lancaster, I am under orders not to go until the month is ended. I am in charge of him. Until he is responsible for his actions, I shall remain in charge, under Doctor Jenkins. Doctor Jenkins is my orders that Doctor Lancaster is to receive a whole dose of morphine every few hours, of the amount he has been taking?"

"Why, Miss Wentworth, I never ordered that," protested Jenkins. "You see, Miss Wentworth!"

"Until you do," interposed Joan bluntly. "I shall continue the treatment as I learned it in Doctor Lancaster's hospital at Avonmouth. And if the storekeeper is opened by anyone but myself I shall take legal action to protect Doctor Lancaster's interests."

"Miss Wentworth!" cried Myers. "You are making a tragedy where none exists. Nobody wants to harm the doctor. We all have one sole thought, to help him. Don't we, doctor?" he continued, addressing Lancaster.

"You are all—very kind to me," Lancaster mumbled.

"There you see!" said Myers, turning toward Joan again. "There may exist differences of opinion," he continued in a faulter manner, "and maybe I've expressed myself too forcibly. But we're not at one in wishing the doctor to get well as quickly as he can."

He was almost fawning now, but Joan remained inflexible. She knew that if she relaxed from the nervous tension that was upholding her she would become hysterical.

The group dispersed. Myers followed the girl out upon the veranda and stood for a long time near the door, watching her as she sat at the farther end, trying to compose herself. At last he came up to her.

"See you, Miss Wentworth," he said faintly. "I've come to you twice and spoken freely to you. Maybe you are now that you have been wise to have met me in the same spirit. Come, now, are we to work together as friends or not?"

"I have no objection," answered Joan, "but my duty concerns nobody but the doctor."

"You must, you won't cooperate with me in saving him from himself." He looked at her with silent challenge in his eyes.

"I," said Joan.

Myers thrust his hands into his pockets. "Right!" he said. "Miss Fraser, of whom are you afraid?" And Doctor Lancaster? It is not of that man Myers, whom he could send about his business at any time when he found strength of will. Who is it?"

"O, Miss Wentworth, I don't know."

"O, do save the doctor from that man who is trying to kill him!" the matron sobbed. "But save the doctor!" O, do save the doctor from that man who is trying to kill him!"

Capstan Glass Loses to Divada, 2-0; Game Ends In Argument in Eighth

Visitors Protest Against Umpire Wall's Interpretation of Ground Rules.

DARKNESS CAUSES HALT

"Now for the county championship," exclaimed Manager P. C. Abate last evening following the Divada Indians' victory over the Capstan team by a 2 to 0 score at the South Connellsville grounds. In the best played and most interesting game of the season, the Yough Valley club was given a white-wash verdict over the crack Bigville team that ended in an argument over an umpire's decision after the home outfit had tallied a run.

"Rube" Alexander, ace of the Capstan clan, was sent to the mound to close the season for the glass blowers while Joe Menefee, former Huronville Consumer southpaw, opposed him on the mound. The two pitched excellent ball throughout the game and were helped by sensational fielding at all stages.

The argument arose in the eighth inning with no men out, two glass blowers on the bases and the Divada team leading, 2 to 0. Prior to the game, the captains of both clubs made a ruling that one base would be given a runner on overthrow over first and third that went into the crowd; all they could make over second; any ball going into the players' dugout or the grandstand entitled the runner to advance a base. After Chip Francis doubled, Hobie Fisher sent his fourth hit to the outfield and "Chip" put it up at third. On the next pitch, a little wide, Hoffman let it go through him and it rolled under the wire into the grandstand. A little lad on the other side handed the ball to the catcher. Meanwhile in compliance with the last clause in the ruling, Francis was entitled to cross the plate and Fisher was allowed to advance to second. "Chip" remained on third, waiting for the effort to score until Umpire Wall called him in. Then a howl went up from the visiting dugout, the visiting Indians should not have been granted the base. For fully 15 minutes the argument went under way when Umpire Wall called the game on account of darkness, reverting the score to the end of the seventh frame, 2 to 0, Divada. Thus the season of the glass blowers closed.

It was the tenth defeat of the season for the Divadans, out the first scored by them by the Divada club in three starts. The latter club clinched its twelfth consecutive victory by blanking the glass blowers. Alexander was charged with his fourth defeat of the season.

The game without doubt was the best and most hotly contested ever played on the South Connellsville grounds. The fielding of both teams was sensational.

The tri-town clan opened in the first frame and looked dangerous when Alexander was unable to find himself and issued free tickets to Getsie and Pallow in succession, then filled the sacks by hitting Shallenberger with two gins. "Rube" came through and whiffed Durbin in the pinch, retiring the side.

The visitors chalked up their first safe blow of the game in the fifth frame when Whipple sent a single to left field. No runs resulted however. He was forced by Steve Schonage. The latter turned his ankle and Hoffman ran for him.

The sixth round accounted for Divada's two runs. Newell was safe on Brown's sacrifice hit. Getsie hit a hard grounder to Jones, but the ball took a bad hop and rolled to left field, the first sacker stopping at second while Newell tallied. Pallow hit a sharp single to center and Getsie tallied. Shallenberger ended the inning by hitting a three-hander to Dushaw who engineered a double play by nabbing Pallow off second base. The other two innings were easy as Alexander was invincible.

Two men were stranded for the glass blowers in the seventh frame. With two out, Dushaw received a free ticket and Alexander was hit by a pitched ball and the two completed a double steal, but Menefee struck out "Pep" Francis. The final frame brought on its argument.

"Rube" Fisher took the batting honor of the day by swatting out three "legal" hits. Andy Getsie sent in the first run of the day enough to win the contest. "Chip" Francis got a double while Fisher got a fourth hit, but in the eighth frame, but were not counted in the summary as the game was ruled by the calling of the seventh frame.

Alexander ran his strikeout record to 21 by whiffing five Divadans. He led the free throw and hit one better than "Rube" mostly of the best moon-deman record in Fayette county. He is credited with 27 victories, including 26 consecutive wins this season, against four defeats and one tie. No team has yet been able to earn more than eight hits and six runs off the stellar twirler. The heavy hitting line-up presented yesterday was unable to touch him for more than three, 433. Alexander, batting at a .433 clip.

Denny Hickey to Race at Butler

BY BUTLER, Sept. 18.—With Denny Hickey of Connellsville and George Zeran and Victor Canion, both of Uniontown, numbered among the 35 entries for the century classic Southwestern Pennsylvania will have a chance to hold the spotlight in the 100-mile automobile race scheduled for the half-mile track at the local fairgrounds Saturday afternoon, September 27.

Hickey, a diminutive driver noted for the irreverence he exhibited in races with some of the most noted pilotes on the big board speedways of the country, is now busy getting his swift racer in shape and a sharp driving skill to be presented here.

Sixteen members of the Cottle football team turned out last evening for practice at Dushaw Field. The club wants to book a number of games with junior and senior teams. Call The Courier and ask for Joseph Galase.

GETSIE GETS CREDIT FOR SUCCESS OF MILL TOWN BASEBALL CLUB

Andy Getsie's Scottsdale Independents, by defeating Jeannette in the deciding contest of the series, thus have game of the season brought the championship of Western Allegheny county, a coveted honor, to the Mill Town. Getsie, who came here from the Mississauga of London, Ont., despite the handicaps he worked under, proved to be a miracle man.

An analysis of the games played shows that the Scotties took the series from Brookdale Licks, Bellevue, Vandergrift, West Newton, Jeannette and Homewood Troopers, the second game of which was forfeited at Idlewild Park, breaking even with Charleroi, McKeesport Tubs and the Homestead Grays and losing to Uniontown Elks; dropping both Sunday games played with Akron, Ohio, and Cambria, Md. Uniontown, with Helmick, proved to be the Jinx. Helmick, however, more than compensated for the defeats to the locals by cracking out four hits for the Independents when Getsie was stopped in the middle of the game. Helmick, who won the championship for it in 1923, and Jeannette had nothing to match Bosternick and Shaw.

While the Scottsdale Independents had a bad financial season, the record experienced in its history, the record made by the team is one that reflects credit on the fans who put up the double when the gate failed to meet the payroll.
